

London School of Reflexology

Certificated Diploma Course in Advanced Hand Reflexology

Friday 12th February 2010

or

Friday 23rd April 2010

10.00am - 5.30pm

Cost: £60

This invaluable course will teach you a range of skills that will enable you to give a complete Advanced Hand Reflexology treatment with all the advanced techniques involved. Hand Reflexology is an important skill and one which allows you to offer your clients an alternative or to enhance your Foot Reflexology treatments.

There will be so many times when you will find that the application of Hand Reflexology will suit the needs of the client more than Foot Reflexology. This course will give you the best sequence to professionally offer Hand Reflexology or combine Foot and Hand Reflexology or combine it with Indian Head Massage.

By using hand Reflexology you will find that you access the central nervous system very efficiently which makes this an ideal treatment for most stress related conditions. Additionally, many clients will find this a valuable and healing treatment, especially those with arthritis, multiple sclerosis, insomnia, frozen shoulder, stress and anxiety or panic attacks, repetitive strain injury and carpal tunnel syndrome. The elderly often prefer hand reflexology and it is successfully used on children.

We will look at how to use Hand Reflexology to build up a client base and how to use it with corporate clients at desks.

On completing this course you will be awarded with an Advanced Hand Reflexology Certificate and receive 14 CPD points.
