Friday 14th January 2010

10.00am – 5.30pm. Cost: £95

This fascinating and unique practical day will enable you to treat internal organs of the body by accessing them through the foot spinal reflex.

Often a client's condition can take many treatments to achieve positive results with Reflexology. With the use of Spinal reflexology you can not only treat the direct reflex but also understand how to access the peripheral nerves to a specific organ or part of the body. The client can then have a more effective response to the treatment. Additionally, you can be able to identify problem areas in the body just by working the associated spinal nerves.

- You will discover how to treat a range of disorders from inner ear conditions to gall stones or adrenal stress by stimulating the spinal nerves that control these organs. This will make your treatments far more effective.
- You will be able to work the spine and recognize which specific organs of the body are not functioning effectively for your client.
- You will be able to understand the spine better and its functions and why clients often have such sensitive reactions when treating the spinal column.
- We will be perfecting the spine and learning how to stimulate each vertebrae with new confidence to an advanced level.
- The spine will take on a totally new meaning and importance within the treatment.

This course will allow you to treat your client's illnesses with a totally new approach. On completing this course you will be awarded with an Advanced Spinal Reflexology Certificate and collect 14 CPD points for this day.
